Trend Sought in Jersey and N. Y. Voting

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The nation's political pulse-takers are intently watching the voters of New Jersey and New York City today for any symptoms that could linger until the national elections in 1962 and 1964.

Of particular interest was the governor's race in New Jersey, where unpredictable voters have skipped back and forth between both major parties for the past decade. Here an Eisenhower Republican, James P. Mitchell, was matched against Democrat Richard J. Hughes who carries the approval of the New Frontier.

New Jersey was narrowly counted for Kennedy in last year's presidential election.

In New York City's mayoral race, much of the attention is focused on the bitter feud within the Democratic party. Republicans—who often provide little more than token opposition—hope their candidate, Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz, can make a strong showing against Democratic Mayor Robert F. Wagner, who is trying for a third term.

Virginia voters are expected to follow tradition and elect a Democratic governor. Dozens of other cities across the nation are electing mayors, and Michigan's Wayne County (Detroit) is electing a U.S. representative. Scores of state legislature seats are at stake in New Jersey, Virginia and Kentucky.

In the contest for mayor of New York, Wagner, who broke with Tammany Hall, has President Kennedy's endorsement. The party's state chairman, Michael H. Prendergast, withheld his support, giving it instead to City Comptroller Lawrence E. Gerook, a Democrat running as an independent.

Wagner is heavily favored. The weather outlook is cloudy with chance of showers. Voting hours are 6 a.m. to 7 p.m. There are 3,693 eligible voters. More than two million are expected to vote.

In New Jersey, most political observers favor Mitchell, who was secretary of labor in Dwight E. Eisenhower's Cabinet. The democrats see their man Hughes, a former Superior Court judge, making a photo finish.

The office was open to them by a New Jersey law that prohibits a governor from serving three consecutive terms. Gov. Robert B. Meyner, a Democrat, has held office for eight years.

The New Jersey polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. The weather forecast: cloudy and cool with chance of showers. A vote

Baptists Open State Convention

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The 108th annual Arkansas Baptist State Convention opened here today.

The delegates — messengers in Baptist terminology — will be asked to approve a proposed record budget of $1,930,050 for the next year.

That's 15.6 per cent larger than the present budget.

Dr. Bernes K. Selph of Benton, president of the church organization, said among topics to be discussed will be the question of doctrinal preaching.

Officers will be elected and resolutions introduced Wednesday.

The convention will end at noon Thursday.

The convention is composed of some 1,500 churches with a membership of 300,000 to make it the state's largest single religious group.

Dr. Selph said that members "are becoming more interested in doctrine."

He said this was good because Baptist churches were built on doctrinal teaching.

And he added that "doctrinal preaching need not be dry, tedious nor offensive except as truth is offensive."

The meeting is being held at Little Rock's Immanuel Baptist Church.

Fear of War No Bar to Store Buying

By STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Most government and private economists reject the idea that public fear of war and nuclear disaster has discouraged consumer buying.

Debate and discussion continue, however, and economists are still puzzled over the failure of retail sales to join in the broad and general rise of economic activity this year.

The same period has seen international crisis piled on crisis, including the Cuba invasion fiasco, Communist gains in Southeast Asia, the threat of war over Berlin, the breakdown of nuclear test ban talks and the pall of fallout from the new series of Soviet nuclear explosions.

Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges and some professional economists tie these phenomena together. It is understandable, Hodges told a recent news conference, that "because of international conditions and a little fear" consumers might defer spending for home appliances and other "big ticket" items.

A similar thought was tossed out by economist George Cline Smith. As outgoing president of the National Association of Business Economists, the New York consulting economist told the association last month in Chicago:

"If the economy is going to take off for the expected highs, consumers are going to have to get their heads out of the fallout shelter and act as though they think the economy is going to last for a while."

Government economists — though reluctant to be quoted by name especially when dealing with psychology instead of economics—admit they have considered this thesis seriously. Most of them don't endorse it.

A White House official admitted privately that consumer behavior has been puzzling administration advisers for months, but without any particular indication that fright was a factor.

There was some speculation within the government that scare buying and hoarding might follow President Kennedy's July 25 message on Berlin, this source said. The speech gave a somber picture of national peril, announced the muster of still more troops to active duty, and called for a multibillion-dollar increase in military spending.

The scare buying didn't develop. A wave of interest in fallout shelters developed, but consumers kept right on socking a high 7 per cent of their disposable income into savings. Retail sales plunged steadily along at roughly the mid-recession rate.

Some economists see a possible explanation in the increasing percentage of income going into the services instead of goods—services which are not reflected in the retail sales figures.

Others have looked for the explanation in the buyers' tendency — highly visible in the auto industry — to look for durability and longevity instead of frills. More economy models of washers, dryers and ranges are being sold.

This shift from "de luxe" models has prompted manufacturers to concentrate on the lower priced market, with the result that it takes a bigger number of sales to push up the dollar-volume totals, which the economists measured.

The Yugoslav consulate said Zagreb as soon as possible and that he would seek damages from the West German government for his arrest.

Offers Financial Help to a City

POTTSTOWN, Pa. (AP) — Ralph Richards, of Pennsylvania, was fined $1 for parking on the wrong side of the street but he sent in $10 with the following note: "Keep the change. If you're that hard up for money, you might need the extra money."

Pottstown Borough Council ordered the treasurer to return the $10.

No Troops to Viet Nam Says Nehru

By SPENCER DAVIS

WASHINGTON (AP) — India Prime Minister Nehru was reported today to have strongly advised President Kennedy against sending U.S. combat troops to South Viet Nam.

Three weeks ago, when Kennedy dispatched his military adviser, Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, to the Communist-besieged nation, there was wide speculation that Kennedy might send a U.S. force to South Viet Nam. When Taylor returned Friday he had no public word of support for sending troops.

White House press secretary Pierre Salinger said Kennedy and Nehru discussed both Laos and South Viet Nam in their first meeting Monday.

Nehru, a leader of the non-aligned nations, scheduled a mid-morning White House meeting with Kennedy today to discuss subjects ranging from Southeast Asia to Berlin to nuclear testing.

Their meeting at Newport, R.I., Monday was the first chance for the two men to take each other's measure. The atmosphere was described as friendly. They flew here together from Kennedy's vacation headquarters.

On his arrival here, Nehru stressed a peaceful approach to the problems of the cold war.

"With us peace is a passion," he told Kennedy in an impromptu statement at Andrews Air Force Base.

The prime minister wished Kennedy "all success in his efforts to maintain peace and freedom in the world."

He also took note of recent U.S. criticism of Indian policies and said one purpose of his visit was to "explain what we have in our own minds."

Relationships between friendly countries, he said, are more basic than "temporary policies and events that happen."

Arrest for Nazi Murder Cancelled

MUNICH, Germany (AP) — Charges of murdering Nazi soldiers in occupied Yugoslavia were dropped today against ex-partisan Zaro Vracaric. The West German government apologized for his arrest on a 1941 warrant.

Officials returned Vracaric's Yugoslav passport and told him the case against him has been wiped off the books. His arrest here last Tuesday while on a business trip had brought a wave of protests from officials and veterans groups abroad, particularly from countries that were occupied by the Nazis.

The Yugoslav consulate said Vracaric, 44, planned to leave for Zagreb as soon as possible and that he would seek damages from the West German government for his arrest.

He also took note of recent U.S. criticism of Indian policies and said one purpose of his visit was to "explain what we have in our own minds."

Peace Talks on Algiers Due Again

BASTIA, Corsica (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle said today that new Algerian peace talks could open "any day now" as long as neither side poses any preliminary conditions.

"And we are not posing any conditions," De Gaulle added in his first speech on a whistle stop tour of this French island.

Two rounds of talks to end the seven-year Algerian rebellion broke down last summer.

De Gaulle said a plastic bomb attack Monday night on his apartment was "absurd and lamentable." No one was hurt by the bomb, apparently planted by a French extremist opposing Algerian independence.

This Is City Election Day for Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Elections issues ranging from mayoralty campaigns to floridation are being voted on today in many Arkansas communities which did not hold primaries.

At least 33 towns will choose mayors while local issues will be decided upon in 11 others.

Voters at West Memphis and Fordyce will cast ballots on the controversial issue of introducing fluoridation to the cities' water systems as a tooth decay preventive.

Annexation will be at issue in Blytheville, Pine Bluff and Brinkley while dog leash laws are on the ballot at Jonesboro, Newport and Russellville.

State law provides that incorporated towns will elect all municipal officers in the election. There will be no vote for office holders in second class cities. First class cities with mayor-council government are voting on a mayor, treasurer and aldermen.

Tavern Man Held for Shooting

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — Tammy Jacob, 23, of Weiner, died Monday in a Jonesboro hospital from a bullet wound he received in a fight at a Waldenburg tavern Oct. 30.

Sheriff C. T. Sullivan said Charles Roberts, 48, also of Weiner and manager of the tavern, would be charged with murder.

Roberts was released on $2,000 bond on a charge of assault with intent to kill after the shooting. Sullivan said he would be taken into custody again.

Sullivan quoted Roberts as saying Jacob attacked him outside the tavern after an altercation inside.

Fire Engulfs Film Mansion Area of L. A.

By JOE LEWIS

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A multi-million-dollar fire, roaring across the Hollywood hills' narrow canyons, spread destruction today throughout the movie-millionaire colony, one of the nation's richest residential areas.

Magnates, movie stars, school kids, housewives and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon fled from homes and classrooms to escape the blaze, termed the most damaging in Southern California history. More than 2,000 were evacuated.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown declared Los Angeles County a disaster area.

The city fire department said it counted more than 200 homes destroyed—many valued at more than $100,000 each. A public information officer for the department said the total "easily could go as high as 300."

The spokesman said the total value of ruined or damaged real estate alone could exceed 15 million—not including priceless art works, lavish furnishings, furs, jewelry and hillside watershed, a vital defense against springtime floods.

Homes destroyed Monday included those of actor Burt Lancaster, comedian Joe E. Brown, producer Walter Winnger, actress Zsa Zsa Gabor, producer-director George Powell and CBS Vice President Howard Meighan. Each reportedly cost more than $100,000.

More than 1,300 men fought the fire which started Monday morning and raced across Bel-Air and surrounding suburbs, snuffed with pallid estates, $200-a-day hotels and exclusive golf courses.

The blaze swept down dry, sun-baked slopes, overran luxurious homes and quickly consumed

Employment Office to Close Friday

The Hope Employment Security Division office, 700 South Elm Street, will be closed Friday in order that personnel may attend a state-wide meeting of all agency employees in Little Rock, Teddy Jones, manager, announced.

The meeting is in conjunction with a training institute jointly sponsored by the Arkansas Chapter of the International Association of Personnel in Employment Security and the U. S. A.

Purpose of the institute, which begins Thursday, is to improve the professional standards and abilities of personnel in the Employment Security Division, Mr. Jones said.

Among the program participants will be such outstanding educators as Dr. Merwyn G. Bridenstine, Dr. Darrell Spriggs and Dr. John W. White, all of the U. S. A. and Dr. Clifton Gamus of Harding College.

Representatives of Arkansas industries will also participate. They include: E. A. Slenfield of Arkansas Valley Industries, Dardanelle; C. J. Brown of the Prescolite Manufacturing Corp., El Dorado and Leo Hawkins of the Dale Carnegie Courses, Little Rock.

"We feel that any inconvenience employees and applicants may experience because our office is closed Friday will be more than compensated by the improved services which our staff will be able to give after receiving this important training," Jones said.

The annual 4-H Club Achievement Banquet will be held at 7 p. m. Monday, November 13, in Hotel Barlow. It was announced today by Mrs. Bettie C. Dunean, home demonstration agent, and Calvin J. Caldwell, county agent.

Dangers of Communism to Be Outlined by Schools in Stepped-Up Program

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Arkansas public schools probably are in for a stepped-up program in teaching the dangers of communism, but just what form the program will take is still undecided.

The Education Committee of the Legislative Council approved Monday a proposal for a stronger anti-communist teaching program, but did not recommend a special course on the subject.

The recommendation will be taken up by the full council, which can in turn make recommendations to the legislature.

State Education Commissioner Arch Ford told the committee that communist dangers should be taught through existing courses. Another witness, Mrs. Alfred Lippman of Benton, a volunteer anti-communist worker, said there is Virgil Fletcher.

Woman Principal Takes Kids Out of Theater at End of the First Act

By WALTER R. MEARS

WASHINGTON (AP) — "This is no play for 16-year-olds," said the lady school principal from New Jersey after marching 146 teenagers out of the National Theater during the opening of "Sunday in New York."

For a few minutes, Monday night's mass walkout stole the scene from the Broadway-bound comedy.

Principal Margaret Walsh of Sayreville, N. J., who brought the youngsters to Washington on their senior class trip, told a reporter later, "We just came out because it was the right thing to do."

The exodus came about 10 minutes before the curtain fell on the first act of the show, a comedy about sex.

On the sidewalk outside, the principal told a show official, "It was my duty to bring them out."

The principal was in tears, the show official said.

The youngsters giggled and chattered as they boarded two chartered buses for the trip back to their hotel.

"I had no idea what the play was like," Miss Walsh said later. "I thought it would be a nice evening. I had called the theater, and they knew it was a school group coming. I'm sorry."

The walkout signal came after a scene in which Pat Stanley and Robert Redford embrace and talk about sex—while the stage lights go down.

When the lights went on again, revealing Redford and Miss Stanley in bathrobes, the school children filed from the $1.75, second-balcony seats.

The audience, necks craned, stared up to the balcony as the youngsters paraded out of the auditorium and down the long stairs to the exit.

David Powers, press agent for the show, said dialogue after the blackout scene reveals that nothing really happened while the lights were off. "It's the most normal little sex comedy you've ever seen in your life," he said. "Something like 'The Moon is Blue.'"

Hard-Luck Carrier Hit by 2nd Fire

By LARRY OSIUS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Flames flashed through the machinery room of the hard-luck U.S.S. Constellation, taking the lives of four men and injuring nine others as the sleek new aircraft carrier cruised on its trial run.

The Navy said the ship—hit by a major blaze in drydock that killed 50 men last December—suffered only minor damage in Monday's fire. The blaze broke out when fuel oil apparently was accidentally sprayed onto a hot steam line.

The Constellation, newest and largest of the Navy's carriers, was due to arrive in New York tonight after its cruise off the southeastern U.S. coast.

The dead were identified as: Bennie Crews, machinist mate first class, Neptune Beach, Fla.; Louis F. Lynch, fireman, Passaic, N.J.; Alfred Steinbuch, Brooklyn, N.Y., a civilian employee at the New York Naval Shipyard; and Eugene Miller, a civilian not further identified.

All the injured were Navy enlisted men, none in critical condition.

Steinbuch survived the Dec. 19 fire which delayed completion of the 77,000-ton carrier seven $47 million onto the original 275 cut.

Monday's fire was under control within 10 minutes, Capt. Thomas J. Walker of Edgartown, Mass., commanding officer, said in a statement released by the Pentagon.

The Navy said "the apparent cause of the fire was the failure of a fuel oil service pump release valve which permitted a flange to separate spraying fuel oil on a 1100 degree (Fahrenheit) steam line."

Spa Attorney in Innocent Plea, Robbery

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Norwood Phillips Jr., former Hot Springs city attorney, remained free on bond today after pleading innocent Monday to three counts of forgery.

He was arraigned before Judge P. E. Dobbs on charges arising from real estate transactions while Phillips was city attorney. Dobbs had overruled a motion for continuance of the hearing.

Phillips' attorney asked for the continuance because of what he called Phillips' "psychoneurotic condition." He said Phillips' condition was reported by the State Hospital, and he now is undergoing treatment in Little Rock.

A trial date has not been set.

Wm. H. Bowen

He said that Charles H. Tompkins, chairman of the program committee, has arranged for William H. Bowen, a partner in McHaffey, Smith & Williams, attorneys at law, Little Rock, to speak on the subject "Deduction of Fees Paid to Lawyers and Expenses by Lawyers."

Mr. Graves said Mr. Bowen is a recognized tax attorney, that he was formerly Attorney, Trial Section, Tax Division, United States Department of Justice and he is the incoming president of the Little Rock Chamber of Commerce. The meeting is to be held at the Diamond Cafe.

BONHAM, Tex. (AP) — Sam Rayburn's doctor said the House speaker, ill with cancer, was stronger and spent a restful day Monday. His condition remains serious.

Dr. Joe Risser said Rayburn, 79, was visited by his sisters and by Miss Allie Clary, his Washington secretary for 42 years.

Big Postal Theft Ring Broken Up

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Postal authorities here report they have broken up an international burglary and postal money order theft ring which operated in nearly every Southern state and Mexico.

Ring members reportedly cashed money orders valued at more than $10,000.

Five persons arrested in Maryville, Tenn., Sept. 21 have been charged in connection with three post office burglaries and the passing of many forged money orders.

Authorities identified them as Rufus Killis Sellers Jr., 25, of Harrisburg, Ark. his wife, Jo Ann Sellers, 25; and Frank Giles, 26, of Allen Sellers Jr., 30, both of Meridian, Miss., and Jude Chapin, 35, who authorities identified as the son of a Truman, Ark., farmer.

Postal Inspector T. P. Daly of Chattanooga, who directed the investigation in Tennessee, said the probe covered half the United States.

He said the ring began operations June 15 in Wells Point, Texas when Rufus Sellers and a fifth man still being sought, and believed the mastermind of the operation, broke into a Railway Express office and stole a number of government checks.

Later, Daly said, Sellers and his wife stole a car at Grapevine, Texas, and traveled in every southern state except Florida and also made a side trip to Baltimore, Md., and another to Mexico City.

During these travels, they picked up Frank Giles and Allan Sellers in Meridian, Miss., the inspector said. Chapin was described as a contact man for other members of the ring.

All the defendants except Chapin have admitted passing or aiding in the passing of the phony money orders, Daly said. Rufus Sellers, Allan Sellers and Giles are now charged with burglarizing the Choctaw, Ala., Blackton, Ark., and Chesterfield, Tenn., post offices in addition to passing money orders stolen from Choctaw and Blackton.

The largest number of money orders was passed following the Sept. 11 burglary of the Choctaw Post Office, Daly said, in Savannah, Ga., Charleston, S.C., Columbia, S.C., Rock Hill, S.C., Charlotte and Asheville, N.C., and in Maryville, Tenn., where the five were arrested.

Daly said the five had a number of money orders in their possession at the time of their arrest. All the defendants except Chapin, have asked that they be permitted to plead guilty in federal court, inspectors said. All are being held in Knox County jail in lieu of $25,000 bonds each.

SEVEN LIES SOUTH by WILLIAM P. McGUIVERN

Chapter XXXII

Don Julio turned away from the windows and sat on the corner of his desk, one footed foot swinging slowly and rhythmically. He regarded Beecher with a curious smile.

"Now the plane. You could find it? Direct a pilot there? You remember the location?"

Beecher closed his eyes and nodded slowly. "I remember."

"And this crate of documents you spoke of. It is on the plane? That is definite?"

"Yes. It would have been too much trouble to bring it along."

"Still, I wish you had. I must work with things I can touch and feel and weigh in my hands. If it would be reassuring now, for instance, if this crate of yellowing documents were resting on my desk. I would enjoy looking through the papers, rubbing the dates with my fingertips, examining dates and so forth."

"You'll have the chance to rub the dust with your fingers. Don't worry about that. The box is on the plane."

"I'm not worrying. That isn't my function. Let me ask you a question: supposing our roles were reversed in some miraculous fashion, that do you imagine you would think of this story you've been telling me? What is one of the first things which might occur to you?"

"I don't know," Beecher shrugged. "I'd probably decide it was pretty fantastic."

"Think a minute. If you had freely joined forces with Don Willie, if you were a partner in his scheme, can you imagine a more Beecher smiled. "Wait until you have just told me?"

Beecher smiled. "Wait until you talk to him."

"But—" Don Julio leaned forward and touched Beecher gently on the shoulder with the tip of his finger. "But I see does not know whether or not you were a willing or unwilling partner in Don Willie's fantastic plans."

"She knows I wasn't involved at all."

Don Julio crossed his arms. "How does she know that?"

"Because I told her—" Beecher stopped abruptly, as if Don Julio's question was a wall he had stumbled against; he shook his head slowly conscious of an almost physical sense of shock.

"You told her," Don Julio said amiably. "Of course you did. Which leaves us, finally, with only your word supporting the story you've told me."

The door opened then and Jorge came hurrying into the office. "She isn't there," he said to Don Julio and his eyes were bright with excitement. "She is definitely not at the Quita Pena."

Don Julio looked thoughtfully at Beecher. "Well you have had an explanation for everything else. What do you make of this development?"

Beecher stood up slowly. "She's got to be there." He stared from Don Julio to Jorge. "What are you talking about? I left her there not more than half an hour ago."

Jorge shrugged. "She is not there now. I looked along the terrace, in the bar, in the back room."

"Maybe — maybe she went to buy cigarettes or something," Beecher wet his dry lips.

Beecher looked through the misting rain. Cars and trucks ratted past, and an old woman was running heavily toward the doorway of a shop with a newspaper held above her head. Suddenly Beecher felt as if a huge hand had closed around his heart, squeezing life and breath from his body. He shook his head incredulously, and caught hold of the window with a tight, straining grip.

Don Willie was sitting alone at a table near the front of a terrace, a bottle of beer before him, and one of his huge German shepherds crouched attentively at his feet.

Don Julio put a hand on Beecher's shoulder. "He hasn't left the village this week. This I know, Mike."

Don Willie rose from the table and sauntered down the street.

Beecher shook his head slowly; he felt as if he had been buffeted about by some grinning, powerful bully. How had they played this last trick on him? "She lied to me," he said thickly. "He's not dead."

"Impeccable logic. If he's alive, it follows he is not dead," Don Julio's expression did not match his mildly whimsical comment; he was staring at Beecher grave and sadly. "Well Mike?"

"Wait a minute!" Beecher turned from the window and pressed his fingertips lightly against his temples. The events of the past week were like the designs seen in a kaleidoscope, he realized; at one minute they seemed brilliantly clear and fixed, but the slightest touch sent them flying into new and startling patterns.

"You say Don Willie hasn't left Mirimar. How do you know that?"

"Because I have seen him and talked with him every day."

The New Jersey campaign— fought long and hard from one end of the state to the other— ended on a low key, due to the death of Hughes' 85-year-old father on Sunday. Both candidates canceled scheduled eleventh-hour appearances.

Because of the contest's potential importance to off-year elections for Congress next year, both parties wheeled their big political guns into New Jersey. Kennedy and former President Harry S. script.

They returned later to recover personal effects and rescue Nixon's cocker spaniel Checkers, who figured prominently in his 1952 vice presidential campaign.

The house, leased from producer Walter Lang, was saved. The Nixon family spent the night at a downtown hotel.

Flames licked the garage near the entrance of Red Skelton's five-acre, half-million-dollar estate. Firemen pumped water from the comedian's swimming pool and saved the home. Skelton and wife Georgia were en route home from Boston. His daughter, Valentina, 13, and the household staff were evacuated.

The $400,000 home of Zsa Zsa Gabor, loaded with paintings, jewelry and furs, was a smoking ruin.

All that was left of Burt Lancaster's hillside home were two smoking chimneys, a water-soaked baseball diamond, a burnt exercise-bicycle and barbells.

Kim Novak, clad in a leopard and flimsy blouse, rushed home from a movie studio, climbed the roof of her Bel-Air home, worth an estimated $200,000, and sprayed a hose about the property, which was saved. The beautiful blonde actress, her face beamed with soot, her blouse soaked, emerged unhurt with her fiancée, director Richard Quine, who ripped his trousers.

Joe E. Brown lamented to newsmen: "Everything went— just as quick as that."

"I can't talk to you right now," said Marlon Brando, reached by phone as he scurried about his Japanese style house atop Mulholland Drive. "I'm kinda busy." His home was left intact.

Art collector James Vigeveno fled from his suite in the Bel-Air Hotel with an autolod of 40 paintings, including works of Modigliani, Utrillo and Picasso.

The Bel-Air Hotel evacuated 100 guests — including producer Otto Preminger, playwright Gore Vidal and Broadway musical producer Morton Da Costa.

A few miles away, in sparsely settled Topanga Canyon and a populated Santa Ynez Canyon, a brush fire destroyed nine homes and scorched about 2,000 acres. Wind-whipped flames roared through steep canyons, exploding at times into a dreaded "fire storm," which occurs when flames get so hot they generate their own winds, up to 100 m.p.h. or more, and devour everything in their path.

The brunt of the fire is in a compact complex of mansions and vast estates—where the cheapest home costs more than $40,000 and costs spiral up past the half-million dollar mark.

Editor The Star: We wish to express our deepest appreciation to your paper for the excellent coverage you gave our 14th annual convention held in Hope Oct. 23-27, and for the splendid cooperation and support you gave our association. The pictures were outstanding as well as the spot news. You were very kind to us and we are grateful to you.

We tried to express our appreciation to you and to the city of Hope in the courtesy resolution adopted on the 25th; however, it was inadequate to express the gratitude we felt.

Our members and our guests joined with us in commending you for a job well done.

Sincerely yours,

Both parties stand to gain or lose prestige in New York and New Jersey—the most important elections before next year's congressional and gubernatorial races on a national scale.

The only other governorship on the line is in Virginia. Voters there are expected to elect a Democrat, Albert S. Harrison, a former attorney general, over Republican H. Clyde Pearson, a Roanoke lawyer.

U. S. Court Turns Down Dollarway

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—U.S. District Judge J. Smith Henley has told the Dollarway School Board it cannot transfer Negro first-grader Bennie Ree York from the predominantly white Dollarway School to all-Negro Townsend Park School.

The York boy is one of four Negroes attending Dollarway, which was integrated by his sister, Delores Jean York, in 1960.

In an order last Aug. 25, Henley directed the board to admit the York boy and another Negro to Dollarway's first grade. The board replied a week later that it did not want to admit the York boy, and its reasons were given in a private report.

Henley said Monday that from an educational standpoint, the boy might do better at Townsend Park, but his assignment to Dollarway was in accordance with the desires of his parents and was not contrary to the criteria of the Arkansas pupil placement law.

Henley's decision Monday was contained in a memorandum and order filed in federal District Court.

Congo Talk by Soviet Due in UN

By WILLIAM N. OATIS

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian A. Zorin planned more talks with other U.N. delegates today, before calling a Security Council meeting to discuss the threat of civil war in the Congo.

Zorin is president of the council this month. One source said the 11-nation group might meet Tuesday or Wednesday, but another delegate dealing with the Congo case said he favored delaying it until next week to enable the U.N. secretariat to gather more information.

Ethiopia, Nigeria and Sudan sent Zorin a letter Friday night asking that he convene the council to consider the situation "caused by the lawless acts of mercenaries" in the Congo's secessionist Katanga Province.

The three African nations did not say what action they wanted the council to take.

At its last Congo meeting Feb. 21, the council (1) urged that measures be taken for the immediate withdrawal of all mercenaries from the Congo and (2) called for U.N. measures to prevent civil war, by force if necessary.

The U.N. force seized strong-points in Katanga Sept. 13 in an attempt to oust the mercenaries, but Katanga troops fought it to a stalemate. Last week the central government announced its troops had penetrated 35 miles into Katanga in a police action to end the secession. But on Saturday it admitted the Katangans had driven its soldiers back.

Katanga's makeshift air force of less than 20 planes, manned by about 20 hired foreign fliers, was a major factor.

Despite the council's instructions to prevent civil war, the U.N. office in the Congolese capital of Leopoldville last July made known that the U.N. force would not act to stop the coalition central government from winning back Katanga.

Last Thursday it went even farther. In a report to U.N. headquarters, the officer-in-charge, Sture Linder of Sweden, said he had warned the Katangans the convention planning meeting.

Mrs. Buddy Sutton, Becky and Richard of Little Rock have returned home after visiting Mr. and Mrs. Newt Pentecost.

Deaths Around the Nation

VICKSBURG, Miss. (AP)—Louis P. Cashman Sr., 74, editor and publisher of the Vicksburg Evening Post and president of the Delta Broadcasting Co. (WQBC), died Sunday after an illness of several months. Cashman, who had been in newspaper work 53 years, was first employed by his father, the late John G. Cashman, who founded the Evening Post in 1883.

SOUTH SHAFESBURY, Vt. (AP)—F. Cecil Baker, 72, a leading figure in the mining industry for many years, died Sunday. He was at one time president of the American Potash & Chemical Company and chairman of the advisory committee in the United States for Consolidated Goldfields of South Africa, Ltd., a British firm with operations all over the world. He was born in London.

CLARK, N.J. (AP)—Louis Vincent Hunter, 49, one of Canada's best-known correspondents in World War II, died Saturday. Hunter, one of 12 Canadian newspapermen named an officer of the Order of the British Empire for wartime service, had a heart ailment. He covered the war for the Canadian Press.

ROCKLAND, Maine (AP)—Kosti S. Ruohomaa, 47, well-known Maine free lance photographer, died Saturday. Ruohomaa at one time 26 industries and live institutions at Conway had a combined payroll of 6.5 million dollars.

U.N. force would shoot down their military planes if they kept on bombing central government troops in Kasai Province, staging area for the Katanga invasion.

In Elisabethville, capital of Katanga, army chief of staff Joseph Yav said his force's only casualties in the border fighting were three slightly injured. But Associated Press correspondent Colin Frost, after a flight in a Katanga plane to the frontier region, reported: "Even on its so-far limited scale, the border war has been fought with a ferocity commonplace in the Congo."

Frost reported a U.N. estimate of 200 whites in the air force is not accurate, that there are about 20 Belgian, South African, Rhodesian, French and Canadian pilots, a handful of professional ground crewmen and a volunteer force of Belgian farmers living in Katanga who help with the servicing.

"I haven't been paid in four months so you could hardly call me a mercenary," one of the pilots told Frost.

Wife Suspects Band Player of Two-Timing

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: My husband plays in a dance band four nights a week. I used to go with him but just because the evenings always wound up in a big fight. Now we have no arguments and I stay home.

There I sit, consumed by the fear that he is two-timing after hours. His clothes are a mess, nothing but what I think!

I suppose I'm sensitive because I can't bear children and always suspect him of longing for a wife who could provide him with a States for Consolidated Goldfields of South Africa, Ltd., a British firm with operations all over the world. He was born in London.

that I even suspect him. Help! —Puzzled Wife.

Dear Puzzled Wife: Let go or you'll lose your husband forever. Suppose you did "trap him," what then? Would you get a divorce or fight it? If you love him neither is the answer. Jealousy is another name for insecurity.

Build a life for yourself, create a happy home. It can be done, even without children. Make it so attractive that your husband will want to come back after the dance is over. But, have a cure, if you take your frustrations out on him he will inevitably seek a more benign climate.

To trap him is childish. Stop letting emotion rule. Ask yourself what you really want. If it's save your marriage, use your head. To accuse him of infidelity is to throw him into the arms of the other woman.

Your cue is to act as if she did not exist. Inability to bear children appears to be the underlying source of your trouble. Check again with your doctor. If there is no cure for the situation then, either adopt a child (provided you qualify as a competent parent) or be your husband's companion instead of his keeper.

Steady music. Share his interests. Pull with, not against him!

Resignation of Walker Accepted

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army has accepted the resignation of Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker, who claimed he was subjected to censorship in campaigning against communism.

Walker's resignation was received Friday by the Army. The Army issued this terse statement Saturday:

"The Department of the Army announced today that the resignation of Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker has been accepted Nov. 4." In quitting, rather than retiring, Walker passed up more than $12,000 a year in retirement pay. He has not indicated what his plans are.

Top Pentagon officials have denied the charge of some members of Congress that Walker was stripped of command of the 24th Division and handed an official rebuke because he was a zealous anti-Communist.

Dear Forlorn: I feel for you. But—don't ask your girl to wait. She is too young to either be going steady or engaged. If you two are destined for one another, Fate will see that you meet again. The goodbye gift depends upon her tastes. If a reader, a book dealing with her favorite subject would be appropriate. Punting of Moore Hog Standout

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Tommy Moore's impressive punting in the 15-8 victory over Texas A&M last week may have earned the sophomore from Fort Smith a regular Arkansas Razorback berth. But Coach Frank Broyles won't know about that until he sees how well Lance Alworth's injured ankle comes along between today and Saturday, when the Hogs meet Rice in Houston. Moore kicked five times for an average of 36.6 yards per kick against A&M. He subbed for Alworth, who usually does the kicking. Arkansas roughed out a few Rice plays in a drill against the 'T team Monday. There was no contact work. Guard Dean Garrett and quarterback George McKinney were named co-captains for the Rice game. Broyles cited Garrett guards Ray Trail and Tommy Brasher and tackle John Childress for fine defensive play against Texas A&M. The Hogs are to hear a scouting report on Rice today from freshman Coach Jack Davis.

Baylor Has Texas on Guard - Royal

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A dry eye was hard to find Monday among the Southwest Conference football coaches. Texas Coach Darrell Royal said he didn't think his high-ranked team had the big head over its sparkling record of seven straight victories. As if to make sure, he warned that the Longhorns face a tough opponent in Saturday's homecoming game with Baylor. He cautioned that Baylor should travel to Austin full of spirit. "They had a revival out there Saturday and now they are taking on the road." The Bears dumped Texas Christian 28-14 last Saturday. Royal said the Longhorns will meet the Bears without the services of fullback Ray Poage who has an injured knee. Center Perry McWilliams has a sprained finger on his left hand that is worrying Royal. "That's his snap - back hand," Royal moaned. The Arkansas Razorbacks, fresh from a 15-8 victory over Texas A&M, stayed away from heavy contact in Monday's workout. They roughed out a few Rice plays against the reserve team preparing for the encounter with Rice Saturday in Houston. Generally optimistic Coach Frank Broyles remained the driest-eyed mentor around as he praised the Razorbacks' performance in the A&M game. Rice Coach Jess Neely said tackle John Cornett "out for three weeks because of an ankle injury" — may miss this week's homecoming game against Arkansas. "He's still limping and as long as he's limping he isn't going to help us," Neely said. Southern Methodist, which takes on A&M at College Station, has two players on the injury list. Both Billy Gannon and Rene McEliling are expected to be available Saturday, however. Aggie Coach Jim Myers sent his team through a brisk workout featuring running. He said his Cadets will be facing "the highest and strongest line, tackle to tackle, we have met all season." Texas Tech was preparing for an intersectional contest with Boston College in Lubbock. Texas Christian Coach Abe Martin disclosed that he plans to return to the three-unit substitution system which proved successful in three previous games. The Frogs journey to Los Angeles Saturday to play UCLA in an intersectional game.

Houston's Attack Is Improved

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Houston stepped up its offense and San Diego its defense in the American Football League last week. Houston moved farther out front in offense, running its average to 438 yards per game—20 yards more. The Oilers do most of their moving in the air, showing 318 yards passing. San Diego, the unbeaten leader of the Western Division, is stingier than ever on defense. The tightfisted Chargers have given up only 225 yards per outing, of which just 89 are on rushing. San Diego is in second place on offense, averaging 337 yards per game. Houston ranks third in defense, behind New York. The Oilers are allowing 300 yards per game, New York 285. In other action Sunday, Oakland defeated Buffalo 31-22 in a battle between the last-place teams in each division. Units, showing this old-time form, passed for four touchdowns as the Colts beat Green Bay. They played on even terms until Lenny Moore got off on a 38-yard touchdown run with a flat pass just before the half ended. That gave the Colts a 21-14 lead, and they took it from there. Clarence Peaks bulled over from the two in the third quarter, giving Philadelphia a 16-14 lead over Chicago. The Bears failed on two field goals in the fourth that would have won it. Roger EdClerc missed from the 17 and Ed Brown from the 13. Y. A. Tittle, Del Shofner and Pat Summerall were the standouts in the Giants' rout of Washington. Tittle passed for three touchdowns, Shofner caught three and Summerall ran his consecutive string of points after touchdowns to 107. Veteran Bob Schmeitler was the big gun in the Pittsburgh upset of Cleveland that dropped the Browns out of a share of second place in the East. Schmeitler, released by Minnesota two weeks ago, picked up 168 yards on seven receptions and

Bednarik Expects to Be Boomed

By GEORGE KESPER
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Veteran lineman Chuck Bednarik said today he expects to get boomed next Sunday when the Philadelphia Eagles tangle with the Giants in New York in a crucial National Football League game. The stellar Eagles' center figures that some New York fans won't forget his booming tackle in last year's victory which rocked back Frank Gifford and sidelined him the rest of the season with a severe concussion. It was a game-saving tackle and a clean one, Gifford conceded later. "Some people are funny," said Bednarik. "But the booming won't bother me. Absolutely not. I'm just going to play my ordinary game." Bednarik, a key player in the ball League championship in 1960, Eagles drive to the National Football League championship in 1960, started the game as a defensive linebacker against the Giants in New York last year but during the second half he played both ways. This year, Bednarik, who is equally effective either offensively or defensively, has been playing only on the offensive unit as center and on the goal-line stand unit. The Eagles lead the Eastern Conference with seven victories and one loss while the Giants are second with a 6-2 record. In other games Sunday, Cleveland is at Washington, Dallas at Pittsburgh, Baltimore at Minnesota, Detroit at St. Louis, Green Bay at Chicago and San Francisco at Los Angeles.

San Diego Is Figured for AFL Playoff

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer
The resurgence of Houston under Wally Lemm, and led by the inimitable George Blanda, brings speculation that the American Football League playoff in December will match the same clubs that battled for the first title. San Diego's Chargers, who were the Los Angeles Chargers then, have won nine straight and have clinched at least a tie for the Western Division championship. They are due to sew it up Sunday when they play hapless Denver. Houston, which won the 1960 title, is pushing upward in the Eastern Division and is only one-half game behind leading Boston. The Oilers, paced by Blanda who is averaging better than three touchdowns passes per game and kicking field goals from most any distance, meet Boston at Houston Sunday and can take over the lead by topping the Patriots. It was after Houston had tied Boston 31-31 that the Oilers began their drive. They have won three straight since then, including a 55-14 rout of Denver Sunday. Boston, too, has taken three straight, climaxed by a 28-21 decision over Dallas last Friday. San Diego, which galloped over New York 46-13 Sunday to knock the Titans down to third place in the Eastern Division standings, will take on Denver next Sunday. San Diego can't count too strongly on going through the regular season undefeated. While the Chargers get Denver and Dallas in their next two games, they then run into Houston and wind up against Boston. Units, showing this old-time form, passed for four touchdowns as the Colts beat Green Bay. They played on even terms until Lenny Moore got off on a 38-yard touchdown run with a flat pass just before the half ended. That gave the Colts a 21-14 lead, and they took it from there. Kansas City Basketball Team Debuts

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A crowd of 3,107 welcomed the Kansas City Steers at their first home game in the American Basketball League Monday night and watched their team lose to Cleveland 110-106. League-leading San Francisco also assumed the spoiler's role, defeating the Los Angeles Jets 116-113 in the opener at Los Angeles. The crowd there was 1,634. Cleveland's 6-foot Roger Taylor, former Illinois star, proved the little man still has a place. He scored 35 points with a soft, outside shot. Bill Bridges led Kansas City with 24. In Los Angeles, George Yardley of the Jets and Whitey Bell of the Saints ignited a brief fight. None of the players involved was ejected. San Francisco was behind 10 points midway through the third period but a 3-point basket by Bell put the Saints ahead as the quarter ended. San Francisco never again relinquished the lead. Dave Gunther scored 27 points for San Francisco. Bell had 26.

McAtee led in the annual balloting by sportswriters throughout the nation, but because the closeness of the vote (297-291), the shrine's permanent nominating committee decided to honor both men this year. Notter, 72, of Floral Park, N.Y., rode from 1904 through 1918. His purse-winning record of $464,322 in 1908 stood until it was broken by Earl Sande in 1923. Texas No. 1 in Nation This Week

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Texas marched into first place in the weekly Associated Press poll of a 48 man committee of sports writers and sportscasters today after both Michigan State and Mississippi were upended. Michigan State had ruled the roost for three weeks.

The unbeaten Texas Longhorns, 27-0 winners over Southern Methodist for their seventh straight, assumed the lead with only three games to play.

Alabama, also unbeaten in seven, took over second position by drubbing Mississippi State 24-0. Ohio State, 29-13 winner over Iowa, bolted into third place in the big shuffle.

Louisiana State, 10-7 conqueror of previously unbeaten Mississippi, advanced to the No. 4 slot and Minnesota, which knocked Michigan State out of the unbeaten class 13-0, took over fifth.

The points are figured on the basis of 10 for first, 9 for second and so on down to one for 10th place. On that basis, Texas has 473 points and Alabama 410.

There are no pairings involving teams from the top ten in this week's schedule.

Hope Little Leaguers Beat Camden

Fifty of Hope's Little Football Leaguers traveled to Camden Saturday morning for a game with the Camden Boys' Club. Everyone got to play and the locals came home with a 27-0 victory. The Whites, Reds and Blues were played as individual units, both on offense and defense.

This game would the season up for the little fellows, who played two "out of town" games this year, after finishing their regular schedule. The locals won both of these games, the first by a 57-0 score.

The Whites won League Championship this season, with the Reds finishing second and the Blues rounding out the standings.

Team coaches were Larry Cox, James Halford and Bobby Embry, with R. D. Huffman and Billy Compton assisting in the post season games. Each team was supported by a group of enthusiastic cheerleaders.

He apologized for his sins and Premier Khrushchev said he forgave him. But forgiveness did not get him his former place of honor overlooking Red Square.

Dressed in a black overcoat and a black astrakhan hat, Voroshilov moved slowly toward the square just before the parade began. An officer in the elaborate blue and gold uniform of the Moscow garrison barred his way near the entrance to the tomb. The marshal argued and gesticulated broadly. The officer just kept shrugging his shoulders.

Eventually the old marshal, a former army commander, was allowed to enter the tomb. There he argued again with men in civilian clothes.

After a few minutes he was escorted out by two men in dark blue overcoats and green plush hats, the usual uniform of the secret police.

Voroshilov was taken to a spot near the tomb where a middle-aged woman in a white uniform was selling ice cream. One of the green-hatted men stayed with him as he watched the parade from there.

As soon as Voroshilov was disposed of, Khrushchev and the other members of the Presidium mounted to the top of the tomb to take the salute.

Khrushchev was bare-headed. The others kept their hats on. The Soviet defense minister, Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky, made the keynote speech in which he boasted as usual that the Soviet Union now has weapons "powerful enough to smash any aggressor."

The Soviet Union has become the world's largest producer of horse meat.

Asks Hunters to Beware of Woods Fire

On Monday morning, Nov. 13 thousands of hunters will take to the woods in the hope of bagging that big buck.

Hundreds of camp fires will be kindled, thousands of cigarettes will be smoked, many of which will be lit with a match, and many, many hunters will build warming fires.

If there is no rainfall between now and the opening of this hunting season the fire hazard will be extremely high. We are therefore appealing to all hunters to please be careful and help prevent forest fires.

When you build a warming fire be sure to clean all leaves and straw at least 6 feet in diameter around your fire, and throw dirt on it when you leave. Be sure to crush out your cigarette stubs, break your match and be sure it is out before tossing it into the leaves and straw.

Remember you are a guest when hunting on someone else's land and that even a fire caused by carelessness destroys good hunting. — Buster A. Denton, District Forester, Arkansas Forestry Commission.

Alabama Is a Standout 1961 Team

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Alabama's Crimson Tide, back among the elite of college football after a decade of mediocrity, have spelled success this year with a pair of Qs, and a couple of blokes named Pat and Mike. The Qs stand for "quarterback" and "quickness," the hallmark of its rapid-fire offense and a rock-robbed defense. The Pat is also the quarterback, Pat Trammell.

Mike? He is a quick-driving fullback by the name of Mike Fracchia, who proves a perfect foil to the speed, deception and passing precision of his partner, Trammell.

This combination has led Coach Bear Bryant's team to a 7-0 record, and has helped it to be ranked No. 2 in The Associated Press' latest poll after winning Mississippi State last Saturday, 24-0.

All elements have blended precisely. Trammell is ranked fifth nationally in total offense with 956 yards running and passing, and 11th in passing with 730 yards in completing 54 of 93 attempts. Alabama is second nationally in yards in seven games for a 130.1 average, and second in rushing offense, leads the team in rushing defense with a miserly 55.1 per yard average. It has allowed four yards every time he carries only 3.1 points per game, lowest in the nation.

Trammell has passed for five touchdowns, and scored eight. Fracchia has tallied four times in the field north of Fair Park. Both will be ready this Saturday when the Tide plays Richmond of the Southern Conference, causing the Spiders Coach Ed Merrick to crack, "I hope my boys won't be overconfident."

Richmond may be without half-back Earl Stoudt, its All Conference halfback and leading ground gainer, who injured a knee in last week's 11-0 victory over Virginia Tech.

Texas, the No. 1 team, will have to face Baylor without fullback Ray Poage, out for the second straight week. Third-ranked Ohio State, playing Indiana, probably will be without quarterback Bill Munkowski, who suffered a gashed finger in the Buckeyes' victory over Iowa.

Penn State lost guard Bob Hart for the year because of a recurring ankle injury that will require surgery. Jerry Gross, the University of Detroit's quarterback who led the nation in total offense part of this season, was operated on Monday for a fracture of the right leg he suffered last week against Army. He is finished for 1961.

Notre Dame is expected to have guard Nick Buoniccontini and end Jim Kelly back for this week's game at Pitt, when the Irish try to break a three-game losing string. Notre Dame fullback Mike Lind may be out another week with a pulled back muscle.

Baylor quarterback Bobby Ply was listed as doubtful for the Texas game after suffering a knee injury against Texas Christian.

The Longhorns have an average 325 yards rushing and 431 overall while compiling an unblemished record for seven games. They gained 431 yards—their exact season's average—in beating SMU last Saturday, according to statistics compiled by the NCAA Service Bureau.

Mississippi, which was knocked from the unbeaten ranks by Louisiana State, remained the runner-up in total offense with a 417.7 average followed by Utah State 387.5 and New Mexico State 372.9.

The Detroit Titans still hold a commanding lead over Mississippi in passing. Detroit has averaged 218.2 yards a game to Ole Miss' 179.4.

Mississippi has passed for the most touchdowns, 15, and has the lowest average of interceptions, 2.8 on only four interceptions in 145 pitches.

Duke's Blue Devils retained their lead in aerial accuracy. Their passers have connected on 70 of 117 for a 59.8 percentage.

Utah State has the highest scoring average, 38.1 points a game for eight outings.

assists for 20 points. Two more than slumping Andy Bathgate of New York.

Bathgate got only one assist in three games last week, while Provost picked up five points, three goals and two assists, to vault past Bathgate in the official league statistics, released today.

Provost's 10 goals leads the league in that department, while Bathgate has the most assists, 13.

Gophers on Job When It Counts

ATLANTA (AP)—A fullback who came to Georgia Tech without a scholarship is the unsung ally in Commissioner Ford Frick's "I hope they bring back the spitball," Frick said today. "The pitchers need help. Most of the rule changes the past few years have favored the batter. Something has to be done to give the pitcher more balance."

According to Frick, a proposal to legalize the spitball was submitted to the major league rules committee last month. The group West Memphis is at Forest City, is expected to consider it during Newport in Tampa, West Memphis and Forest City. Jim Gallagher, veteran ex-athlete, is the committee chairman.

A similar proposal was submitted to the committee a few years ago but was turned down. Frick recalled. "This time I think there's even more need for the spitball. The fans will eventually get tired of seeing all those home runs. The spitball would help bring back the stolen base, the hit-and-run and the sacrifice and would give the fans something new."

Frick pointed out Joe Cronin, American League president, and Frank Shaughnessy, former president of the International League, also are in favor of the spitball's return.

Frick Favors Return of Spitball

NEW YORK (AP)—Belting big league baseball pitchers, stung by a record 2,730 home runs last season, have a strong ally in Commissioner Ford Frick. Jonesboro, Helena Meet for Title

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Jonesboro and Helena, two bitter east Arkansas rivals, meet Friday night in Jonesboro for the Region 2AA high school football championship. Neither team has lost a league game.

Jonesboro (8-1) will be favored but Helena (7-2) was obviously looking a week ahead in a 6-0 triumph over West Memphis last week. Jonesboro skinned Forrest City, 41-6.

Helena let the title slip away to Stuttgart last year when Helena had one of its finest teams in history. This year, the Indians spitball, Frick said today. "The pitchers need help. Benton's only loss was to Little Rock, 9-7.

Little Rock Catholic and Mabelvale, neither of which have won a 3AA game this year, meet Friday night in Mabelvale in a battle for the cellar. Russellville meets Subiaco in non-conference competition.
